'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

The American nation is the politest in the world. Even the French politeness fades to a mere shadow alongside of the Americans.

On the highway, for instance, one never hears harsh words exchanged between drivers.

When a woman driver parks her car in the middle of the street and blocks traffic, the gentlemen behind her, stop their cars and exchange weather greetings with their neighbors.

When the woman pulls herself out of the jam, she blushing tries to apologize.

The American driver, gentlemen to the last smilingly tells her to not mind it, that it was merely an incident.

And when two drivers collide at an intersection harsh words are never exchanged.

Instead the two drivers try to convince each other that they were to blame for the crash . . . and not the other driver.

"I insist that it was all my fault," one driver will exclaim.

"No," the other will say, "it was all my fault . . . I take all the blame."

At times these arguments become quite heated and the police are forced to intervene.

And the American traffic cops are the most polite men in the nation.

When a motorist turns left in direct violation of all rules the officer blows his whistle and the driver stops.

"Good morning, sir, (or madam as the case may be), the officer says as he tips his hat. "I do hate to cause you any trouble but you turned left on this street. I am sorry, perhaps it's the fault of that sign over there. It should be placed so one can see it. And if you will be so kind as to watch these signs more closely, why I know we'll just get along famously." With that he tips his hat and goes back to his pedestal in the middle of the street.

And speed cops are just as polite. When they stop a speeder they never, never, bark, "where juh think yuhre goin' to, a fire? Slow up. Just because you got a speedy car ain't no sign that you can tear up the highway. I'm here to protect the people!"

Oh no, the officer says, "may I call your attention to the fact that you are speeding? Perhaps your speedometer is off and isn't registering your correct speed; perhaps you're hurrying to a hospital. These little things will happen. Now please watch yourself and don't speed any more."

And at big bargain sales at big department stores, the women act like gentlemen. For hours they stand patiently at the counters, waiting to be served, while the clerk discusses the modern trend of art with the third assistant floor walker.

And when her time comes to be waited on, the woman first makes sure that she isn't intruding upon someone else who has been waiting longer than she, before she makes her purchase.

Yes, Americans are the politest people in the world.

Change of Location Of Ferry Slip Asked

Preliminary discussion toward a possible change in the location of the automobile ferry slip from the outer harbor to the inner harbor was begun yesterday by the Richmond chamber of commerce.

P. M. Sanford, president of the chamber, was authorized by the directors to refer the question to the transportation and industrial committees for a series of conferences as to the details.

Matters to be discussed will include the time which it will require to make the ferry trip to the inner harbor; street connections to the new location; interests to be served by a change, and cost of the new installation.

The site considered yesterday was near the old sugar wharf. Fred D. Parr of the Parr-Richmond Terminal company said the change would be desirable because of the present difficulty in transporting stevedores from the present outer harbor ferry slip to the new facilities along the inner harbor. The opinion was expressed that a ferry at the foot of Tenth would make possible better and more frequent bus service between the Richmond business district and the inner harbor, where the Ford plant will soon employ more than 2000 men.

Improvements Are Planned At School

At yesterday's meeting of the school board, it was definitely announced that an outside luncheon for students to eat under when it is raining would be constructed, according to Superintendent of Schools W. T. Helms.

It was also announced that curtains will be provided for the Longfellow Junior high school auditorium, to enable slides, movies and stage presentations to be held.

Business Depression End Seen By Babson

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., Sept. 10.—UP—Prediction that the current business depression may be relieved this fall was made here today by Roger W. Babson, famed statistician, in an address at the Seventeenth national business conference.

With the haughty spirit prevailing a year ago, Babson said, "A decline was inevitable, but with the humble spirit existing today, a turn for the better is sure to come."

"Under the existing circumstances, it is very possible that there may soon be a stampede of orders and congestion of freight in certain lines and sections."

Babson said he would make no forecasts as to 1931, but added he was "certainly optimistic" regarding this fall.

"It is just as evident today that business is now bound to improve, as it was evident a year ago that the high pace of early 1929 could not be kept up," he explained.

Talk about over-production, Babson declared, was "largely hysterical." The real solution of the problem, he said, lay in speeding up the circulation of money. To accomplish this, Babson made the following suggestions to industry:

1. Reduce overhead.
2. Give better measure.
3. Increase research work.
4. Advertise more.

FILM STAR DIVORCED

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10.—UP—Declaring that his beautiful dancer wife, Lina Basquette, was so jealous of his work as a leading cameraman, J. Beverell Marley today secured a divorce.

Miss Basquette, widow of Sam Warner, magnate of Warner Brothers Studios, did not appear to contest the action.

"She was jealous of me because I had to show other actresses how to photograph well," Marley told Judge Arthur Keech. "It got so bad that my work was affected."

Slap Threat
The cameraman also declared that once Miss Basquette threatened to slap another actress simply because she spoke to Marley at a dance.

The couple married in January, 1929 and separated last June. Recently Miss Basquette created a sensation by attempting suicide with poison because she said she despaired of regaining custody of her small daughter who is cared for by the Warner family.

Marley scarcely had left the court house when another movie prominent, Luther A. Reed, director, filed suit for divorce against Jocelyn Lee, whom he married last June.

Suit Filed
He declared Miss Lee, a prominent actress, was jealous and created scenes at his office and elsewhere.

She became so excitable a week ago at Agua Caliente that she scattered money all over the floor of the fashionable hotel at the Mexican resort. Reed's complaint said. Finally, when he was unable to quiet her, the management asked them to leave.

Reed asked custody of Celeste, 3, and Dana, 2, mentioned in the suit as the children of the couple.

BODY FOUND IN VACANT LOT

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10.—UP—With a bullet wound through the heart, the body of Bruno De Maria, 13, high school honor student, was found tonight in a vacant lot near his home here.

A few hours after playmates discovered the tragedy Roy Kent, 14, a friend of Bruno's told police that the shooting was accidental.

"Bruno and I were looking at the gun at my house," he said. "We thought all the shells out but one went off. Bruno grabbed his breast and staggered out into the back yard."

Because some of young Kent's stories were conflicting, officers said, he was taken to juvenile hall for further questioning.

Police said a school safety badge belonging to Bruno was found in possession of the Kent boy, who first said he traded it to the victim for a bicycle ride but later declared he took it off of the dead boy's shirt.

"I liked the badge but thought I ought to give it to the principal in the morning," police quoted young Kent as saying. "I went and took the badge and then went back in the house to try to read."

The gun which killed the De Maria boy was found in a closet at Kent's home, police said. His parents explained that the gun had been hidden but that the boys evidently discovered it in the hiding place.

MOITZOZA NINE WINS ANOTHER CONTEST

The Saunders all-stars of Oakland, probably the fastest visiting ball club seen this season on the San Pablo diamond, went down to a 5 to 2 defeat before the Moitzoza Fords on Admission Day.

The locals' victory was mainly due to the stellar chucking of Frank Peacock, who not only fanned 18 batters but allowed only three hits during the first six innings and allowed seven hits during the entire contest.

The Fords displayed heavy hitting power on the San Pablo lot against the twirling of Murray, Saunders pitcher. Gray, Matteri, Scary, Wickesser, Hampshire and Babich all pounded the agate relentlessly for the Moitzoza nine. Gray collected three hits out of four times at bat, while Matteri, Scary, and Babich each earned two singles out of four times at home plate. Wickesser gained two for three, and Hampshire garnered the only two-base hit of the day.

Labetch and Murray did the hard hitting for the visiting All-Stars, each making good two out of four chances with the hickory.

Grid Practice Starts Monday At California

BERKELEY, Sept. 10.—"Unknowns" will have their training when football practice opens next Monday at the University of California.

Thirty or more players who were on the fringe of things last season are expected to furnish the returning 16 lettermen with strenuous competition in the scramble for varsity places. The "double eleven" scheme should give some of these men opportunity to break in to the spotlight before the season is far advanced.

Jim Sheridan, third string quarterback last year, and Joe Verducci, 1929 freshman, lead non-lettermen in the battle for places. At halfback the Bears will have adequate reserve material. Leaders are Ray East, former Modesto Junior college star sprinter; Ulrich Fritsch, last year's freshman captain; Bill McCutcheon and Sheldon Potter, both former quarterbacks; Roscoe Peart and Ralph Seely, both of whom gained their first experience last season; Henry Schaldach, the pint-size shot-putter; and George Watkins, champion punter and ice hockey luminary.

Watkins, East, Seely and McCutcheon are expected to put in the strongest bids for places on one or the other of the teams.

Joe Smith, a former halfback who gave a good account of himself as varsity catcher last baseball season, leads the non-letter fullbacks, with Gus Castro, a freshman last season, not far behind.

Line material is plentiful. Louis DiResta, George Garner and Louis Hotopp, all of whom were reserve last year, are expected to put in strong claims for varsity jobs. Jack DeBenedetti, whose climb to the varsity was cut short last year by a shoulder injury, and Ralph Stone, or last year's squad, are the most promising ends among those who did not earn letters last season.

The 1929 freshman team sent up a good pair of tackles in Dick Tozer and Seldon Del Giorgio. Bol Neuhaus, another sophomore, is a good prospect. Max Combe, who was injured last season, and Gerald Easterbrooks, a reserve, look to be the best non-letter tackles remaining from the 1929 squad.

His experience as a substitute end may stand Gene Elerting in good stead in his aspirations for a place at running guard. Sam Gill, latest member of the family to play football at California; Don Handy, brother of Captain Carl Handy; Henry Trotter, 1929 reserve and Marc Swinney and Bob Pascoe, of the freshmen, are other good guard material.

Of the non-lettermen, Newton York, Jack Ashbaugh and Thor Hansen, look promising. York and Ashbaugh were the freshmen pivot men last year; York captained the yearling baseball team in the spring. Hansen was a 1929 reserve.

FLUSHING, N. Y., Sept. 10.—UP—Leo "Eagle" Diegel of Agua Caliente, Mex., passed out of the P. G. A. national championship tournament today and his passing gave the professional meet its first real thrill. His conqueror was Harold Sampson of Burlingame, who so far as eastern fans are concerned, is a dark horse.

Public Address System Will Be Used By Bears

BERKELEY, Sept. 10.—Harry Braddock, secretary of the Pacific Coast Football association, and Neil known football official, will be the announcer for the public address system to be used at football games this fall at the California Memorial stadium. W. W. Monahan, graduate manager of the Associated Students of the University of California, announced today.

The appointment solves a perplexing problem. Monahan pointed out, since it was felt that the announcer should not only be a student of the game but that he should be capable of handling the announcements impartially.

Braddock played end at the University of Pennsylvania, and was selected on Walter Camp's all-American team in 1909. He was one of the organizers and the first president of the Pacific Coast Football association in 1919. He has been officiating at major football games on the Pacific coast since that year.

MACKMEN TO MEET HIGH GRIDDEERS

The traditional rivalry of five years of football will culminate in the battle to be fought between the Richmond Union high school and McClymonds high school griddeers on the local high school field tomorrow afternoon.

During five years of close football competition between the two eleven's the locals have earned two victories, lost two contests, and tied one with McClymonds. Tomorrow's game will therefore be the deciding contest of this traditional rivalry. Richmond last year lost by the narrow margin of 7 to 6.

This year's Navy Blue and Red outfit has not yet suffered defeat. It won its season opener with Oakland Technical high school by a score of 6 to 0, and tied University High 0 to 0 last Friday. The Richmond griddeers showed plenty of possibilities in these first two scrimmages, and, as a result of the polishing up performed upon the local backfield and line during the past week, Richmond should be able to successfully settle its ancient score with McClymonds tomorrow afternoon.

The lineup that will start for Richmond tomorrow is as follows: Hall, center; Hoeffler and Corazzo, guards; Ball and Westman, tackles; Gerletti and Juillerat, ends; Snodgrass, Maciek, Baskett and Scarsella, backfield.

WEISGERBER TO PLAY WITH SAINTS

SAINT MARY'S COLLEGE, Sept. 10.—With the opening of the practice season just a day or two away, Slip Madigan's Ga. loping Gaels are champing at their bits, impatient to get in some heavy practice before their strenuous season begins.

In looking over the fifty men who will soon be out there battling for positions on the first string, Madigan expressed great satisfaction at the beef and brawn. It is the happy combination speed, weight and brains that accounts for the west's domination over the east on the gridiron, the Gael mentor maintained.

Fans throughout the country are asking if the Gaels will repeat the remarkable record set last year, when they lost no games and had only six points scored against them. Madigan makes no promises or statements of the outcome other than saying, "we have a lot of tough teams to beat in California, Santa Clara, Fordham and Oregon. We have a likely looking bunch of football men on the campus. Vince McNally and myself have come to the conclusion that you can't tell just how far a Ga. loping Gael will go."

The blue ghosts remain intact. Bob Barrett stepping into Pitchford's place at full, Stud Stennett, who looks like all-American lumber will again hold down one of the half positions, while Dick Boyle and Frank Toscani will battle it out for the other. Red Schefflin, who has added lots of poundage since last season will also see action in the backfield as will Baird Fitzpatrick and Fletcher.

Understudies to Barrett at full are two big fellows from a st. years' frosh. Brovelli and Gould. Joe Flores is another candidate for full. Madigan's big problem is to select the right man for the quarterback position left vacant by the redoubtable Butch Simas, declared ineligible by the Conference.

From end to end the line will be the heaviest and fastest that the Gaels have put on the field in three years.

Ends: Ebbing, Sperbeck, Coye and a host of youngsters from the frosh.

Tackles: Toby Hunt and Frank are two big fellows from last year's stellar guard, has also been switched to a tackle berth, while her and Fischer look good at guard but they will have to scrap with about ten good men from the 1929 frosh. Woody Peebles is being groomed for the pivot position with Danilovich and Rubel coming along strong.

All the Gaels look ready and willing for the heavy practice and scrimmage which will begin after September 15.

Locals Will Enter Coast Net Matches

Reports were made by various committees.

U. C. Crew To Start Fall Training Soon

BERKELEY, Sept. 10.—Rowing season will officially open Wednesday at the University of California, when the Golden Bear varsity oarsmen will make their first trip to the Oakland estuary. Fall rowing will continue five days a week until November. Coach Carroll "Ki" Ebricht said today.

Improvement of form will be the keynote of the sessions, Ebricht said. To this end Freshman Coach Russ Nagler is keeping his freshmen charges in the "scows" for a longer period than has been customary, and as soon as varsity practice opens, Ebricht intends to spend much time on fundamentals.

The Bear prospects are not overly bright, for while enough material is on hand for the varsity boat the junior varsity shell can be filled only after much experimenting. Duncan Gregg, the rangy sophomore stroke of last season, returns to the varsity, but Ed Salisbury, No. 8 man of the Jayvees, has not returned to college. Res Rhein, pace-setter for the yearling eight, may take his slide.

Hub Caldwell, of the 1928 world's championship crew, is gone from his No. 7 place; he will probably be succeeded by Lee Pope, of the Jayvees. No oarsman is yet in sight to replace Pope.

Herman Holman, a sophomore last season, will be back at No. 6, but this place is vacant in the second varsity boat. Frank Archibald, freshman 6, is not in college this year. Another member of the championship crew, Bill Dally, will not return, making room at No. 5 in the first shell for Morris Matheeson, 1930 J. V. At No. 4 Burton Jastram returns to the varsity, with Ed Goldeen at the same place in the other shell.

David Dunlap, varsity No. 3, will return. Lew Neumann, of the freshmen may take Andrew Davis' place in the second boat. Davis' out of college due to a fractured skull. Jack Brink, of the Olympic eight, is missing from the No. 2 club, but Barret Hyde, of the junior eight returns, as does Howard Lackey, of the freshmen.

MURDOCK IN C. C. MEET GAMES

Jack Murdock remained the only Richmond contender left in the singles of the Contra Costa county open tournament, with the elimination of James Hurley on Admission Day.

Hurley was downed by Martin Murphy in a hard three set match. Murphy started an uphill battle to take Hurley by scores of 4-6, 6-3 and 8-6. Hurley led at 5-3 in the final set, but suddenly lapsed, and allowed Murphy to win the set and match.

Murdock will make his bid in the tournament next Saturday when he tackles one of the seeded players, Walter Honsberger, runner-up in the recent Berkeley city championships.

Only one major upset featured a rather quiet day of tennis during the holiday competition. That was the default of John Murio, who defaulted his match and also was eliminated in the doubles by a default. Murio was number one seeded player in the tourney.

The other seeded players, Roger Stone, Stanley Almquist, George Green, and Walter Honsberger, have come through in fine style to win their matches, and a lively battle is promised next week-end when these stars tangle. In the doubles, Almquist and Honsberger seem to be the favored pair, with Budge and Trainer probable runners-up.

The results of Tuesday's matches of the 1930 Contra Costa county tennis tourney were as follows:

Legion Grid Team Shows Good Progress

Bruises, bumps, black eyes, game legs, split lips and sundry other ailments are beginning to make themselves apparent on members of the Richmond Post of the American Legion football team, following two hard scrimmages this week.

Sunday and Tuesday the team, which now boasts a roster of about 20 regular players, was divided into two squads and the boys went in at each other hammer and tongs.

Spectators were amazed at the progress shown by the athletes this early in the season, dyed in the wool football fans declaring the grid stars were tackling, blocking and running with the ball, like a college team that has hit its stride.

Bud Clarke, backfield star of last season's team has been putting the boys through their paces during the absence of Phil Hempler and Frank Ribbe, who, it was announced last night, will be present at tonight's practice to start the team off right.

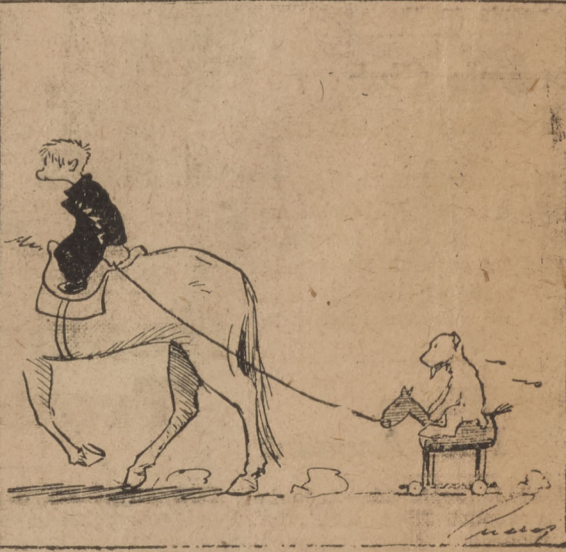

Whether or not the two Richmond Union high school coaches will be able to continue with the team all season has not yet been definitely stated, although according to the latest announcement, the coaches who will run the team and also play in some games.

If the coaches are present tonight, as is anticipated, it is probable that the first formation plays will be worked out and a light scrimmage indulged in, and a H players seeking a permanent berth on the squad are asked to be present.

Dan Bradley, manager of the team, has received numerous letters from northern California teams asking for game dates, and it is probable the first game will be played in Richmond the latter part of this month.

Local Scots Entertained At Meeting

President's Night was observed with much hilarity by members of the St. Andrews Society of Richmond in the Richmond clubhouse last night.

The event of the evening was the presentation to President Peter MacCullum of an enormous Scotch Haggis while refreshments were being served.

The Haggis was ushered into the hall to the accompaniment of appropriate music, and the serving of the dish proved the source of much amusement to the members and considerable inconvenience on the part of the perturbed president.

The social night was pronounced a decided success by the large crowd that gathered to assist in honoring President MacCullum.

The principal speaker of the evening, Rev. A. A. Pratt of the First Presbyterian church, gave an interesting talk on the "Night Life of China" regaling his hearers with stories of his adventures with Chinese bandits and of his adventures in the Far Eastern country.

Past President W. J. MacDonald gave a short talk on the work of the society and reminded the members of the concert and dance to be held Saturday night for the benefit of the British Benevolence Society, under the joint auspices of the St. Andrews society and the Sons of St. George. The affair will be held in the Memorial hall and the public is invited to attend.

A program was presented as follows:

Mrs. E. Wissing, grand deputy of the Daughters of Scotia, from the Bluebell lodge of San Francisco was present last night and suggested that a lodge be inaugurated in Richmond.

Refreshments were served and dancing to "Macs" orchestra completed an enjoyable evening.

AMERICAN POLO TEAM BEATS BRITISH

MEADOWBROOK, N. Y., Sept. 10.—UP—Forced to the limits of brilliant, smashing polo by a hard riding British team which would not give in until the final bell, America's new "big four" fought from behind today to win the deciding game of the series for the Westchester cup, 14 to 9.

It was as hard a game as ever was waged for the historic trophy, and only the superiority of the American mounts and men in the closing chukkers turned the tide.

Eric Pedley, America's number one and the first Californian ever to ride for the United States against England, went wild and scored goals from every angle.

With slashing back-handers and accurate forward drives, Pedley counted six times in the last three periods, after it had seemed as if the challengers might win.

When it was over, and he was called up to receive the cup, from which all the players drank, Tommy Hitchcock, captain of the American side, declared that it was the hardest game he had ever played in.

The riding at times resembled that of a rodeo. Winston Guest was hurled from his mount and stunned in a crash of men and horses. Joy Bells, one of Captain "Pat" Roark's ponies, broke its right foreleg and had to be destroyed. Fouls were called several times against both sides for rough riding. Altogether, this game had all the thrills lacking in the opening contest, which the United States won on Saturday, 10 to 5.

Pedley, spear-head of the dashing American attack, scored eight of the goals, Earle Hopping three, Hitchcock two and Guest one.

For the British "Pat" Roark was everywhere, riding recklessly and hitting with great accuracy. He scored three times while Lewis Lacey, still handicapped by being placed at No. 2 instead of at back, drove home four goals, and Gerald Belding two. Belding, at No. 1, was the weak spot on the British team, but it was not for want of hard riding and courageous play at all times.

The challengers' No. 1 simply was outclassed, and his failure to hit accurately at times cost the British several chances for goals.

After the fifth chukker, in which they held the Americans scoreless, the British seemed to lose some of their dash. Or it may have been that the Americans put on the pressure. At any rate, Pedley and Hopping each scored twice in the sixth period, and after that the issue never was in doubt.

HOW TO END CONSTIPATION

If you want to get rid of constipation for good, you must cleanse the liver of its stored-up bile and set it to working right. Remember it's a torpid, lazy liver clogged with bile that keeps you constipated. This surplus bile poisons your whole system, causing headaches, bad breath, sallow skin, sour stomach, gas, indigestion, dizzy spells or other disagreeable symptoms.

All that any ordinary physic does is to force a bowel movement without getting at the liver. What you really need is a thorough internal cleansing with Plantax, which brings out all the accumulated bile and other foul secretions.

Plantax is a most effective liver tonic compounded from the juices or extracts of harmless plants—remedies from Nature's own laboratory. It acts in a gentle, easy way—no irritation or weakening of the organs. Large bottle $1. On sale at all good drug stores.

CARDS, ROBINS CONTINUE TO ADVANCE

By UNITED PRESS

National League:
The St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Robins continued their mad drive toward the top of the National league Wednesday by defeating the New York Giants and the Chicago Cubs, respectively. The Cards and Robins are no but one and one-half games behind the faltering first place Cubs.

Adolph Luze, ancient Brooklyn pitcher, duplicated Ray Phelps' feat of Tuesday by blanking the Cubs and allowing but five hits as his team won 6 to 0.

Jim Bottomley's home run in the eighth inning with two men on gave the Cards a 5 to 3 win over the Giants.

Tom Zachary held the Pittsburgh Pirates to four hits as the Boston Braves won 5 to 0. Walter Berger hit his 34th home run of the season in the first inning.

The Phil's though outlast 12 to 11, nosed out the Cincinnati Reds, 5 to 4.

American League:
Wesley Ferrell failed in his attempt to win his 25th victory of the season when the New York Yankees defeated the Cleveland Indians 7 to 2. Ferrell's downfall was hastened by his teammates who committed four misplays.

The Boston Red Sox defeated the Chicago White Sox 6 to 2. Luke Appling recently obtained by Chicago from Atlanta of the Southern Association handled five chances at shortstop without and error and got one hit.

Vic Sorrell allowed the league-leading Philadelphia Athletics but four hits as the Detroit Tigers triumphed 4 to 0. The loss did not affect the A's lead, however, as the St. Louis Browns nosed out the second place Washington Senators, 3 to 2.

With Allison, Bell and all of the foreign contingent eliminated, Big Bill Tilden appeared more than ever the eventual winner of his eighth championship. But Tilden's advance to the quarter-finals was ignored by the crowd as Bell and Sutter played their seesaw match.

Three English players had little luck in their fourth round engagements. Frederick J. Perry took the first set from John Van Ryn, East Orange, and then, during the second set, looked too long in the sun while trying to smash a high lob. His game suffered thereafter and Van Ryn took the match.

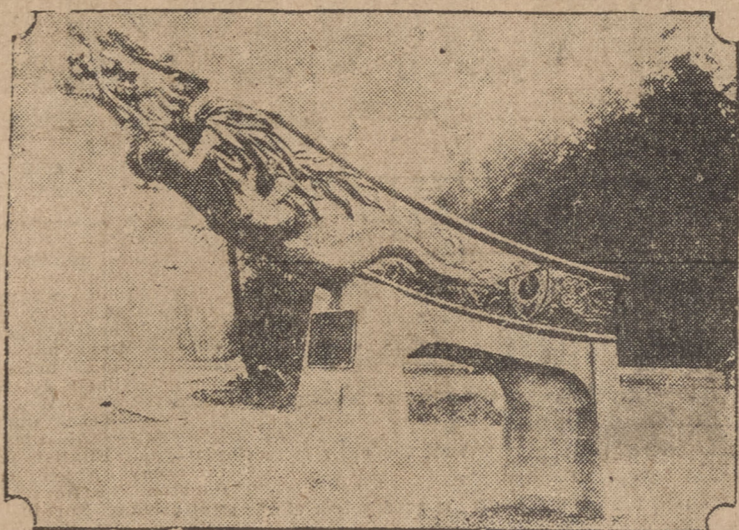

The other Englishmen, H. G. N. Lee and J. S. Olliff, lost in straight sets respectively to John H. Doeg of Santa Monica, Cal., and Gregory S. Mangin, Newark.

Bonnie Sisson and Mrs. Baldwin.

Opening with a grand concert at 7:45, "Circus Night" will be held at the San Pablo Baptist church tomorrow night. According to an announcement by those in charge the event will be free to the public and all the freaks and daredevils of the big top will be featured performers.

Allison, Bell Defeated In Tennis Play

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 10.—UP—This was a very bad day for tennis players from Austin, Texas. Berkeley Bell and Wilmer Allison learned that in the fourth round of the men's national singles championship.

Bell, who mastered Jean Borotra last Saturday, fell before the determined onslaught of Clifford S. Sutter, New Orleans, 7-9, 6-4, 6-1, 2-6, 9-6. But even more spectacular was the defeat of Allison by Frank X. Shields, the youthful New Yorker, upsetting Cochet's conqueror, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2, 1-6, 6-3.

Allison, seeded second in the tournament, found Shields, seeded eleventh, at the peak of his game. Five thousand fans stayed on in to the dusk to watch a slugging battle that was in doubt almost to the end.

With Allison, Bell and all of the foreign contingent eliminated, Big Bill Tilden appeared more than ever the eventual winner of his eighth championship. But Tilden's advance to the quarter-finals was ignored by the crowd as Bell and Sutter played their seesaw match.

Vacation Thoughts of a Fair-Minded Husband

PERHAPS one of the advantages of the summer holiday that often separates briefly husband and wife is that, away from each other, each can see the other more clearly—each while apart can think quietly and wisely.

About the problems and the good points of the absent mate.

Distance not only lends enchantment.

But offers a fresh and friendly point of view.

In place of one which may have been warped by too incessant nearness.

And the consequent irritation of tautly strung nerves. We have just received from one husband, whose wife has been away.

Such an interesting confession of his domestic delinquencies. And of his failure to appreciate her problems and sacrifices—

That we believe it should be published in the column, to set other husbands thinking.

About whether they really value their wives enough—

And we know every wife will want to read what Joseph R. Fabian writes!

"Since my wife's departure for the seashore with the kiddies three weeks ago," he begins—

"And God knows they all needed the change."

"Many thoughts which have never before entered my mind."

"Have suddenly come home to me with a realization so striking."

"That I have decided to shuffle the cards."

"In fact, I have laid down a list of resolutions."

"Which I will promise religiously to carry out."

"Upon the family's return home."

"To begin with, I must shamefacedly confess that it was I who—"

"1. On returning home from work would cast off my hat and coat."

"And deposit them on the nearest chair, and—"

"2. Carried home that grouchy I'd worn since lunch time, and—"

"3. Sank in an easy chair with the evening paper until called for supper, and—"

"4. Complained about the weak coffee, etc., ad infinitum, and—"

"5. Went out after dinner to see some of my friends at the club."

"And returned home to find the kiddies asleep and the wife ready to close her weary eyes."

"Yes, I've been scolded for all that and more."

"And repeat in sackcloth and ashes."

"And make my 'never again' resolutions."

"I'd like to talk man-to-man fashion for a few moments."

"With the many husbands who are guilty of some or all of the above sins."

"In order to show them where the shoe actually pinches."

"I think very little thought is given to the average wife."

"Especially the average middle-class wife."

"In six cases out of ten she lives in a hell of dulness."

"She begins by sacrificing her own comfort by bearing children."

"She draws from her pitiable reserves to clothe the kids."

"The glamor of the love match has worn off."

"As soon as the hectic love period has passed."

"She has settled into her prepared place."

"Which is that of a Jill of all trades."

"She finds herself installed as mistress of a home."

"Held responsible for its cleanliness and its smooth running."

"The life of the working-class wife is a terrifically heroic struggle."

"It abounds in bravery."

"That makes the exploits of the Spartans look like bed."

"If she is a poor man's wife, she will rise with the dawn."

"Prepare his breakfast."

"Look after the children that come to her."

"Clean the house, do the washing."

"Make five dollars go the distance of ten."

"Seek out the cheapest markets."

"Put the children to bed."

"And generally finish up a good eighteen-hour day."

"Grateful if only nothing untoward has happened."

"If there have been no accidents or sickness."

"If the husband has not had unusual business hours."

"Which have brought him home irritable and snappy."

"He himself may go out in the evening."

"To a 'talker' and other children's games might be indulged in. During recess serve punch with a dipper in paper cups and pass cookies."

"When refreshment time arrives give each guest a lunch box—this might be a fancy tin box that will answer as the party favor. Have part of lunch for two packed in one box and the rest in another. Attached to each girl's box have a blue card bearing the name of a capital city. On those for the men have pink cards bearing the name of a corresponding state. For instance, one man will have a pink card with New York written on it, so he must hunt up the girl who holds the blue card with the word Albany on it, and the couple are to be lunch partners."

"A servant who cannot give notices."

"And who will do things which no self-respecting servant would do."

"She is grateful for the words of praise that she can keep fit."

"For her thrift, her loyalty and her industry."

"Nobody knows in what period of the world's earliest history."

"The female bee revolted and deputed the worries of motherhood to the queen bee."

"And arranged to kill off all the men at the end of the summer season."

"When the autumn chills have come I walk round my garden to the nearest bee."

"And see the massacred fat men lying all over the place."

"Stung or frozen to death, but indubitably bumped off."

"And my heart goes out to these ladies."

For the Home Mechanic

THE combination fireless cooker and vacuum bottle solves a question of fresh cooked hot dinners when away on an automobile trip. The handy man can do the solving by making a combination out of half-inch lumber, a galvanized pail, a suitable kettle cover, a bushel of sawdust, an iron thermo-weight or other thick piece of circular metal, a small piece of felt, a brass handle, and two thumb nuts and bolts of the kind shown.

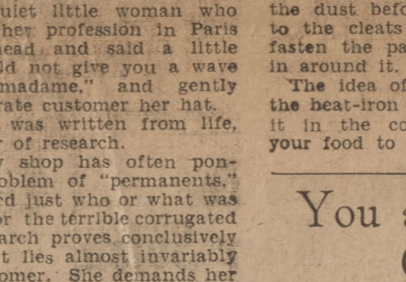

The hardest part of the job is pounding the sawdust around the pail—after the thermo-cooker is otherwise completed, for this insulation must be light, in perfect contact and unbroken. The best way is to fill the lower part of the box with the dust before the pail is screwed to the cleats or cross pieces; then, fasten the pail, and tamp the dust in around it.

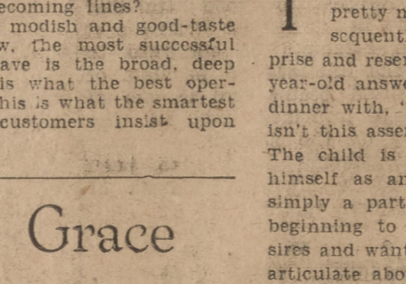

The idea of the cooker is to heat the heat-iron on the stove; place it in the cooker as shown; place your food to be cooked in pans one

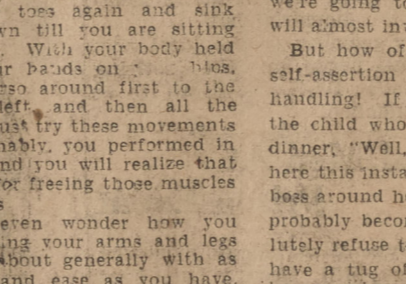

A good way to keep the pans in place and the right distance apart, is to solder a one-inch ring of tin to the bottom of each pan. These rings will slip over the bulging parts of the pan-covers and thus hold the covers, yet keep their own positions. Such a ring sets well on the heat-iron as well. The pans will ride better in the car, and, besides, if they are of a size to just about fill their space in the cooker. They can be lifted for removal by using a knife to tilt them.

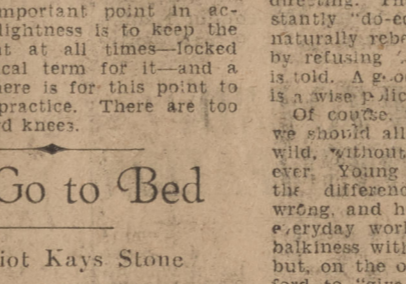

THE very young child usually does pretty much as he is told. Consequently, behold mother's surprise and resentment when her three-year-old answers the summons to his dinner with, "I don't want to." But isn't this assertiveness quite natural? The child is beginning to think of himself as an individual, no longer simply a part of his mother. He is beginning to sense that he has desires and wants of his own, and to be articulate about them.

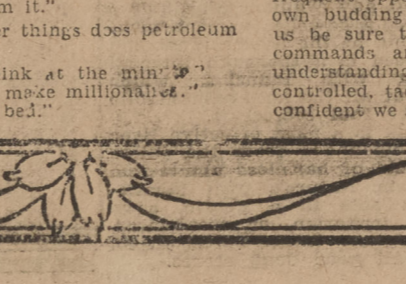

At this age, a certain amount of self-assertion is natural and healthy. We should handle it with good humor and quiet, calm firmness. If we go to the baby child and gently take his hand, saying cheerfully, "Now, we're going to have our dinner," he will almost invariably come with us.

But how often is perfectly normal self-assertion aggravated by unwise handling? If mother angrily says to the child who is refusing the call to dinner, "Wait, the least. You come here this instant. I'll teach you who's boss around here!" the young one will probably become rebellious and absolutely refuse to budge. Then we shall have a tug of war, possibly followed by punishment, tears and strained nerves. A child usually enjoys a scene. It makes him the center of attraction and it appeals to his dramatic sense. We should avoid scenes as we do the plague.

Self-assertion is also aggravated by too much interference, and too much directing. The youngster who is constantly "do-ed" and "don't-ed," very naturally rebels, and sometimes ends by refusing to do anything that he is told. A good deal of "letting alone" is a wise policy.

Of course, that doesn't mean that we should allow the child to run wild, without any guidance whatsoever. Young ones have to be taught the difference between right and wrong and how to get along in the everyday world. We shouldn't meet balkiness with anger and excitement, but, on the other hand, we can't afford to "give in" to the youngster. As soon as a child discovers that if he makes sufficient fuss he will not have to do what is required, we are lost!

So let us interfere with what our little one is doing only when absolutely necessary, and let us give him frequent opportunities to express his own budding individuality. But let us be sure that our few, necessary commands are obeyed. If we are understanding, good-humored, self-controlled, patient and firm, I feel confident we shall have little trouble!

THINK IT OVER

By Alfalfa Smith

WHAT is your attitude toward hard times? Are you going to sit down and let things slide, or are you going to get up and do something?

There is a great deal said these days about the great men of this country. How about the women? Are there no great women?

Is there one woman in this country who advised her husband to take his money out of his business—his hard earned money—and put it into something that was not sure?

Are not the women of this country bearing the burden of the present hard times? Did they bring it upon themselves?

This present dearth of money will not be alleviated until everyone gets the fear out of his system and begins to make the money flow once more.

If your husband, father, brother or sweetheart is out of work, have him make a list of things he can do. Then find what he wants to do most and see that he does it, but take the fear out of him before he starts, for if he is afraid of anything it will scare the job away.

Make Your Shoes Last Longer

CASTOR OIL is conceded to be an excellent preservative for leather, and shoes treated with this will last longer.

First brush the shoes to remove dust and mud—it may be necessary to use warm water to do this thoroughly. Place the shoes in shoe trees and before they become completely dry apply the castor oil and put the shoes in a warm, not hot, place. After they are perfectly dry, rub them with a soft cloth.

This treatment may give them a sufficient polish and will be preferable to many of the shoe polishes in use, which have a tendency to harden the leather, making it brittle and liable to crack.

An excellent shoe polish can be made by mixing ordinary blacking with a little milk. Rub a little on the leather and it will require very little polishing to produce a good shine.

Is Your Home Sanitary?

BECAUSE you keep it neat and clean, your home may not come up to the actual requirements of sanitation. The plumbing may be in tip-top shape, the garbage always removed daily, but when flies, ants and waterbugs are present, there is a chance for disease germs to lurk in dark corners.

There is a current belief that mice kill hobnob with the best of us, and that waterbugs are but one of the curses of some sections of the country. This may be true, but why let it be true of your own home? Waterbugs or roaches can be exterminated even if it does require constant effort over a period of weeks. Powders, however messy for the time being, are more effective than liquids sprayed along woodwork, since their deadliness to such vermin is more lasting.

THE CHAIN LETTER MEMO

WE know the drought has laid low the crops in the Middle West, but 1930 will be a banner year for chain letters just the same.

A chain letter is something you get in almost any morning's mail. It is usually a carbon copy and says So-and-So is sending it to you and eight other close friends. All you do is copy the letter within twenty-four hours and send it to nine other good pals. Then wait 24 days and you'll be surprised at your good luck.

If you break the chain you get nothing but bad luck and are liable to slip on a banana peel, catch eczema or have the folks-in-law drop in for the week-end. Most persons prefer not to take any chances, so they pass the chain letter on.

Practically no one can be prominent today unless he receives six or eight chain letters a week. Many noted business men spend from 10 to 15,000 A. M. just getting their day's supply of chain letters off.

Chain letters have given more letters to carriers' cupboards of the spine than any other cause. In another year it is estimated that sending chain letters will even succeed the Christmas greeting card racket. Which is about the best thing that can be said for it.

Right now more people have chain letters than railroads and the carbon copies are increasing daily.

It seems all these letters originate with some American naval officer in the Far East. Congress should investigate and see if our naval officers haven't anything else to do.

Anyway, here's the way they go: "This letter was started by Admiral Whoozis, in charge of United States naval operations, drifting for typhoons in the Pacific Ocean. Copy this and send it to nine persons to whom you wish good luck. Do it inside of twenty-four hours. This has to go around the world three times. Count nine days and you will have a stroke of good luck, apoplexy or some other pleasant surprise."

AD- MIRAL WHOOZIS to G. M. FUNK, G. M. FUNK to L. B. GIBBISH, L. B. GIBBISH to M. M. ROMP, M. M. ROMP to G. M. FUNK.

Simplest! Easy! That's all there is to it. Follow the instructions and after nine days Funk will call on you and explain another good scheme for obtaining good luck, health, fame and 200 per cent profit.

Do a good-boy scout and do nine good deeds for a day. The letter carries will bless you.

Answering chain letters is now our third greatest industry. It is exceeded only by holding up chains and listening for time signals.

Chain letters are really wonders at improving the world. To supply paper and envelopes for a whole scheme 265,000,000 tons of pulp wood are cut down each day. Just another three months of chain letters and Newfoundland will be as flat as a pool table.

Nothing since the two-pants suit was invented has made life so worth living as the chain letter has. You pick out nine good friends to whom you wish good luck. Their good luck consists of getting nine rolls of wallpaper and copying a list of names.

However, it isn't the manual labor—it's the spirit of the thing. A chain letter is only as strong as its weakest link. And in order that it may not perish from the earth the American fleet has been ordered to Pacific waters again this fall.

Fifteen Dollars' Worth of Waves!

SHE was blonde and statuesque. But her hair was of an unyielding straightness, and so she craved a permanent. "Besides didn't her girl friend have one, and wasn't everybody just simply crazy about it?" Too bad the operator who did Peggy's hair was away on her vacation.

"There's a permanent! That's the kind of a wave I want!" But the quiet little woman who had studied her profession in Paris had a different idea. "I could not give you a wave like that, madame," and gently handed the irate customer her hat.

SCHOOL nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically, and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

FAMILY FORCED TO LIVE IN STREETS

Mrs. Grace Jose, 48, a widow, and her four children, ranging in ages from 19 to nine, are living in the street in front of their home in El Cerrito, from which they were ejected Sept. 2. According to Mrs. Jose they will remain there until her home is restored to her.

According to Mrs. Jose, the trouble originated over a mortgage on the property, which, she said, she incurred when she borrowed money to repair her home.

She offered to repay a portion of the loan, she said, but the building and loan company foreclosed the mortgage and served papers ordering her out of the house. When she and her children were unable to move at the specified time, she said, Constable George Conlon of El Cerrito and a crew of men forcibly ejected them from their home.

At the time of the eviction, an aunt, Mrs. Agnes Bergmann, 80, lay bedridden in the home, and was hastily bundled into an automobile and removed to the county hospital in spite of the protests of a daughter, Marguerite, 16, who was the only one home at the time, the woman said.

Other children who are also sleeping in front of the house at 1106 Liberty street are Henry, 19, Robert, 16, and Anita, 9. Henry has found a number of odd jobs and is earning about $2 a day, while Marguerite is working in a cannery earning $2 a day.

With this $5 a day income Mrs. Jose declares they will at least be able to eat and secure warm clothing and will not give up the home.

The family props up blankets and campers at night while they go to bed, and in the morning breakfast is cooked on a little range rigged up in a vacant lot.

Trouble, in some form or nature has continually dogged the footsteps of the homeless family the past few months.

On April 26, El Cerrito fire department records show that a woodshed in the back of the home caught fire causing a small amount of damage, and on July 29, what was apparently a firebrand, was thrown through an open window onto Marguerite's bed.

The bed immediately blazed up and the young girl, without waiting to dress, ran several blocks through the El Cerrito streets to the fire department, attended only in her nightgown.

Ghoul Loots Graves; Police Guard Asked

BERKELEY, Sept. 10.—With the discovery of disinterred human bones and evidence of digging operations around graves near Brentwood, authorities are contemplating placing guards around other Eastbay cemeteries to prevent recurrence of the vandalism.

Authorities are advancing the theory that the work is being done by a grave robber, searching for valuables buried with dead persons.

The investigation was precipitated by G. L. Braley of Berkeley, who told Berkeley police of the finding of several graves opened and their contents strewn about.

No trace of valuables remained, he told police.

C. E. To Hold Convention September 26

Routine business was transacted and plans were furthered for the convention, Sept. 26, 27 and 28.

Martinez Man Believed Suicide

MARTINEZ, Sept. 10.—The body of Michael J. Fitzgerald, who committed suicide some time between Sunday morning and yesterday, was found floating in the bay near Ozol oil docks yesterday afternoon.

Fitzgerald, 54 years of age, according to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bulger, whom he frequently assisted in the management of the James hotel, remarked several times in the course of the past few weeks, "You'll fish me out of the bay some day."

No relatives are living.

COMMISSION DROPS L. A. PROBE

(Continued from Page 1) holding that the expenditures were charged by the companies to their surplus account, and no part of them was charged to operating expenses. As a result they held, rate payers would not have to share any part of the election expenses. DeCote pointed out "this commission cannot usurp the duties of the board of directors."

Their opinion also said: "The testimony of various witnesses shows that the public utility services rendered by the respective companies were not impaired by the withdrawal of company employees from their regular duties during the election period."

Expenditures listed in the opinion were: Southern California Edison company, $45,608.05; Los Angeles Gas and Electric corporation, $40,282; Southern Counties Gas company $200 and Southern California Gas company $1,683.35.

A dissenting opinion was written by Commissioners Clyde L. Seavey, William J. Carr.

It said: "While it may be that utilities have the legal right to engage in extensive and costly political activities utilizing for this purpose their regular operative force, this right is subject to at least two qualifications, to-wit:

"The full cost of such activities must be charged against and by corporate surplus, to the end that none is reflected in the current costs of operation, and

"Any utilization of the regular operating force must be such as to impair or detract from the standards and character of service to which the public is justly entitled.

To see that utilities are kept within their legal rights in this respect is clearly the duty of the commission and within its jurisdiction."

Seavey and Carr admitted that expenditures of diversion of employees by the Southern Gas company and Southern California Gas company had been "nominal" and "insignificant", but the situation developed in respect to the other two companies, they claimed, presents "a sharp challenge to the effectiveness of the system of regulation to properly cope with it."

State's Attorney John A. Swanson requested Colonel Randolph and Fitzpatrick to testify after a conference with Chief Justice John P. McGorty, another powerful figure in the drive. McGorty instructed the grand jury to make an inquiry into racketeering, which is estimated to have taken a toll of $136,000,000 yearly from legitimate business, trade associations and labor unions.

"The extent of the proposed inquiry was indicated by Justice McGorty's instructions to the jury for a 'relentless warfare against the lawless element which seeks to erect a super-government in Chicago.'"

Fight Asked
"Let Chicago, through you, take the leadership among the great cities of America in fearlessly and unceasingly fighting these racketeers so long as the rights of labor and industry are threatened," he said.

THE Pacific Gas and Electric Company spent $27,000,000 to bring Natural Gas to Northern California. By using Natural Gas you not only co-operate with the United States Government in its Conservation Program, but you benefit by heating your home with this clean fuel—it costs less to use.

The Warm-air Furnace

The Warm-air Furnace is installed in your basement and insulated pipes like those shown in the picture below carry the heated fresh air to each room.

The Warm-Air Furnace

To start or stop the furnace all you do is touch a little trigger on a Thermostat which we mount upon the wall of your living room. The Thermostat keeps your home at an even temperature.

All burnt gases go outdoors through the chimney. They cannot enter your home. Furthermore, you build no fires. Your basement stays clean.

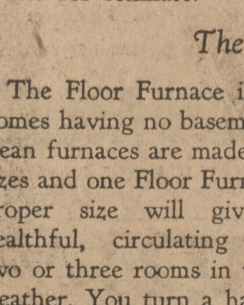

Ask us or a heating dealer for a heating proposal. Very convenient terms can be arranged.

Steam Heat

When you stop at a fine hotel or apartment during the Winter months you appreciate Steam Heat and the convenience of having radiators in each room.

No doubt you have often desired the same type of Steam Heat for your own home. But you hesitated because you believed a "boiler plant" required a fireman to watch it or an expensive automatic burner. However, in any small or large home, flat, apartment house, or building, a Steam or Hot Water system can be installed to operate automatically without any attention—if the boiler burns Natural Gas.

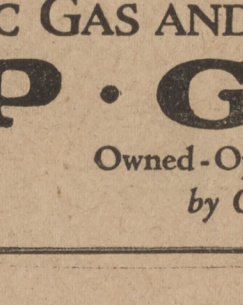

A Steam Boiler system costs slightly more than the Warm-air Furnace but it will be worth the difference if you desire the finest heating comfort, perfect cleanliness, and absolute freedom from care. Ask us or a heating dealer for estimate.
